TABLE ETIQUITE. -In a newspaper article on table etiquette Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher says that in handing your plate up to have it replenished you should first remove the knife and fork, and thus prevent their being jostled and fork, and thus prevent their being jostical off by those annoying accidents which are so liable to occur. Appreciating the fact that it looks awkward to hold the knife and fork in your hand, and equally suspicious to stick them in your pocket, the lady recommends that you lay them down "on the solitaire or piece of breed!" so as not to soil the cloth. Mrs. Receiver bread," so as not to soil the cloth. Mrs. Beecher ought to remember that we do not all receive a salary of $25,000 a year, and three months at the White Mountains, and are not, therefore likely to be provided with solitaires. Even in the case of these versors who can afford such the case of those persons who can afford such a luxury, it seems to us to be asking a great deal of them to take it off for the purpose of propping up a greasy knife and fork. And then, if a man lays down his solitaire in company, he takes a great risk of never seeing it again this side of the grave. It were cheaper, we take it, to grease the table cloth and pay the damages after the dinner-buy a new cloth, if need be, and take the old one home for a horse blanket. The horses would not kick because of a grease spot or two. A mule, though, would kick the roof off the stable on a much less provocation. "On the solitaire or piece of brerd' Looking at it again, we see in it a hole for a man to crawl out of who has no diamond. But why would not a biscuit do just as well as a ricco of bread? Or, in the absence of either bread or biscuit-a fellow is liable to eat them, you know—how would a cold potato do? Or, again, how would it do to wipo the knife and fork on your hair, and—but these things wil suggest themselves to a man in an emergency.

CHROMO PHOTOGRAPHY.

By this art an ordinary Photograph can be transformed into a FINELY FINISHED ART PICTURE, strongly resembling Percelain Miniatures, and attracting the admiration of all beholders. Yet all this can be accomplished at a very slight cost by any person of ordinary skill and intelligence, and a picture of compactively trifling cost, rendered fifty times more valuable at a very small outlay of time and material This art is particularly adapted to ladies and others who are seeking light employment, whether for amusement or profit, and especially these who have skill in, or taste for, using oil or water colors, though it can easily be learned by all. No acquaintance with photography is needed to produce these pictures. If sold they readily command $3 for eard size and $5 for eabinet size, each, with frames.

Briefly, the process consists in transferring the photographic print to a convex glass, manufactured expressly for the purpese, which is done by the use of the Adhesive Preparation, accompanying Brownell's outlit.

It is then rendered transparent by means of the Diaphanous Liquid, (sold only in connection with Brownell's outlit,) and another glass being used, the picture is colored and finished in the used, the picture is colored and finished in the manner elaborately and fully described in the Instructions accompanying the outfit, which are Instructions accompanying the outfit, which are improved and more complete than any other details which have been given to the public. Directions for mixing and using both Oil and

Water Colors are given, in addition to other Black Walnut Hinged Case, containing all materials necessary for this beautiful work, costing | PERCENT BONDS. only $2.50 and $5.00 each, according to size. With the Diaphanous Liquid, Transparency can be secured in twenty minutes
